WHAT IS THE COA AND WHO CAN JOIN?

At the COA, aspiring orchestral students learn how to play stringed instruments. Students as young as kindergarteners can learn to play violin, viola, or cello, and beginning in third grade, students can learn how to play bass.

WHAT ARE COA CLASSES LIKE?

In COA classes, students learn how to play their instrument with other students so that they learn how to play in ensembles at an early age. Each class has its own professional music teacher who specializes in the instrument he or she teaches and who is also an active performing musician in the Fargo- Moorhead- West Fargo community.

COA students quickly advance as musicians because they work consistently with the same COA faculty members from year to year.
